

To Sarah Jane sj.elkind@gmail.com

Date Sep 6, 2018, 07:32

Security  Standard encryption (TLS) Learn more

Sarah,

Now that you've copied me on an email, I think maybe you're open to talking to me. Of course it needs to be on the phone so that there's no record of it. It won't be a secret, but I won't mention it to him until after we talk, and then only when it comes up.

What do you think? Shortish conversation? I think both of us will feel a bit better having corroboration on some things. Also there's some info I want to give you. He's clearly doing the same things to both of us.

By the way, I haven't BCC'd him on this, and I won't forward anything you type. I'm also going to delete any emails between you and me from my inbox, sent folder, and trash. You should do the same.